

Policy Plan

Leli Foundation

Background

Education is a powerful tool in fighting poverty. For this reason, the foundation focuses on raising funds that are used to support education in Ghana.

For many years there has been an band with Ghana. Initially this was a private initiative that is now transferred to Leli Foundation.

In the neighbourhood of Ho, in the Volta region in Ghana, we support a school where the Ho Diocese provides education. Also the Diocese tries to support the school financially as much as possible, for instance by paying for the teachers' salaries. These employees have a higher (non-material) motivation than those of schools that are set up from the public sector. Their commitment is high and this is transferred to the students. However, there is hardly any money for the maintenance of the school or the purchase of teaching material. Leli Foundation wants to make those funds available.

School project Volta Regio

Volta is one of the ten administrative regions of Ghana and covers the south east border of the country. Because the number of schools is limited, schools in Ghana often have a regional, sometimes even national, function.

This means that, for many students, the school also provides room and board. On average, the children stay at school for 9,5 months and only visit their parents during the holiday period.

The average age at which students make their exam is between 14 and 16 years.

Remuneration policy

The members of the board do not receive any remuneration for their work for the foundation.

Objective

Leli Foundation wants to support education related projects in Ghana. We work closely with the local representatives of the relevant projects and / or team up with organizations that have the same goal in mind.

Leli Foundation is a non-profit foundation. We believe it is important that all donations are actually 100% invested in the defined projects.

Strategy

Together with the local representatives we decide which projects match our objectives. For now we support a school in the Volta region in Ghana. When assessing the projects, urgency / relevance and executability are considered. The role of the local representation plays an important role in this. The physical implementation of the projects is always done by local entrepreneurs.

Depending on the size of the project / to attract additional funds, we are open to collaboration with other parties, such as Wilde Ganzen or Stichting Bresillac (SMA).

Finances

Most of the funds needed to finance the projects come from donations by (to) Leli Group Holding (affiliated companies).

Project overview

A number of sub-projects have been carried out over the years:

Projects for primary & junior secondary school in Ho (Volta region Ghana)

Water

- ★ Building a water well with facilities

Building

- ★ Computer class room
- ★ Library

Hygiene

- ★ Building toilet blocks with running water

Project Uganda

- ★ Providing Pack H2O water backpacks (via het Lejofonds)

Most recent projects

★ Housing for teachers (together with Wilde Ganzen)

- In 2013/ 2014, together with Wilde Ganzen, we were able to generate necessary funds for building housing for teachers on the school campus. Not only do they no longer have to travel long distances between home and work, but they can be even more involved with the school and its students.
- After the summer holidays, we also received the exam results: 33 students took their final exams and they all passed with above-average marks! A beautiful end result and a good starting point for their future.

★ Beds for students

- In February 2021 we made a contribution of € 5,000 for the realization of beds for internal students. For this project we work together with the Bressilac Foundation / Society for African Missions SMA. After completion of the project we will also publish this on the website.

Future projects

New projects still need to be defined and assessed.
